The HEROES program is a Johnson City Schools and Frontier Health partnership that offers prevention, intervention, counseling, referral, support, and educational services to students and families. The program offers schools and all students a way to deal with problems such as peer violence, defiance of authority, suicide, truancy, alcohol and drug use, and trauma.

A team of master’s level therapists are specifically trained in diagnosing and treating children and youth with Evidence Based Treatment Interventions. The therapist works with the student, school and family to find solutions in individual, group and family sessions.

Care managers assist children and youth with history of emotional or behavioral problems by assessing needs, resources and family intentions. They facilitate treatment teams, link individuals with appropriate services, assess progress and advocate for their needs.

We also offer telehealth services!

Ask your school about the Frontier Health staff located on site if you are interested!
